

Editorial Notes

This issue of the Journal is given to the subject of ethical issues as these relate to the college/university campus. We have enlisted some well-qualified writers to deal with these critical issues.

In the lead article, Dr. Guy Greenfield, former professor of Christian Ethics at Southwestern Seminary, gives an overview of ethical issues we will confront in the early twenty-first century. The bibliographic suggestions of Dr. Greenfield are worth the price of this Journal! The article should help us as we prepare students for life in the next century.

Dr. James Carter, currently Director of Church-Minister Relations for the Louisiana Baptist Convention, presents an article on ministerial ethics for the campus minister. This is a practical article that should challenge the best lifestyle from each of us.

Michelle Tooley, Ph.D. candidate at Southern Seminary, has done extensive studies in the area of human justice. She presents an article that will rekindle our desire to pursue justice among all peoples.

Judy Bledsoe Bailey, Campus Minister at the University of Richmond and Vice President for Administration for ASBCM, shares a personal pilgrimage with which many of our readers will relate. She reminds us that our culture (and denomination) has a long way to go in granting equality of the sexes.

I hope you enjoy this issue of the SBSMCM Journal. Thanks to the writers who contributed.
